

Metals Project 'Best Public Space' in RIAI Awards 2012

The Metals Project Phase 1 in Dún Laoghaire has won the Royal Institute of the Architects of Ireland (RIAI) Award for Best Public Space/Urban Design for 2012.

The project has created new public space by decking over the railway cutting (by kind arrangement with Iarnród Éireann) and by reclaiming excess and unused road width for pedestrians along Crofton, Queen's, and Marine Roads.

The scheme seeks to attract and encourage people of all ages to linger by providing for a variety of activities – generous areas for walking, places for sitting and eating, a small playground for children and an area for civic events.

The project is part of the Council's larger Urban Design Strategy for the area, which seeks to reconnect the seafront and Harbour to the Town Centre. It has created a new setting for County Hall and because of its location next to restaurants and cafes, is proving a key factor in the rejuvenation of the area.

Michelle Fagan, President of the RIAI, commented "the Architecture Awards prove that architecture can deliver something that is not only functional and beautiful but also adds real value".

An Cathaoirleach Cllr Tom Joyce said that he was delighted by the news of the award and the formal acknowledgement of a project "which not only has made a huge contribution to the regeneration of Dún Laoghaire town, but which has been strongly welcomed by the public we serve".

New Cathaoirleach & Leas-Chathaoirleach Elected in Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown

Councillor Tom Joyce

At the Annual Meeting of the Council in June, Fine Gael Councillor Tom Joyce was elected to the office of An Cathaoirleach, with Labour Councillor Stephen Fitzpatrick elected to the office of Leas-Chathaoirleach.

Councillor Tom Joyce, who was previously elected Cathaoirleach in 2009, has represented the Fine Gael Party in the Glencullen ward since 2003 and was re-elected in the 2009 election to the re-named Sandyford-Glencullen ward.

Councillor Joyce is a member of the Local Authorities Members Committee on the Strategic Planning Guidelines for the Greater Dublin Area and a member of the Sandyford Business District Alliance. He previously served as Chair of both the Housing and Transportation Strategic Policy Committees.

Councillor Stephen Fitzpatrick, a Labour Councillor for the Dún Laoghaire electoral area, was first elected to the Council in June 2009.

Following his election he was nominated by the Council to the Dublin Regional Authority, Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown Sports Partnership, Southside Partnership, and to the Dún Laoghaire Vocational Education Committee where he is Vice-Chair.

Councillor Fitzpatrick sits on the board of the Dún Laoghaire College of Further Education and the Governing Body of the Institute of Art, Design, and Technology, Dún Laoghaire, where he was a former student.

Ireland's First National Journey Planner goes live!

The National Transport Authority's new online National Journey Planner went live last month. The service will help people plan journeys, door-to-door, anywhere in Ireland, using public transport. The Planner covers bus, rail, tram, taxis, ferries and walking – with fully mapped-out route information, printable timetables and details of overall journey times – all available in one place. There is an App available for both Android and iPhone. A cycle planner is also currently being developed for the greater Dublin area.

The new Journey Planner takes account of over 9,600 bus stops across Ireland, 750 different routes, 152 train stations, and route and timetable information from 120 different transport providers. The location of footpaths, laneways, short-cuts, one way systems and QBC contraflow lanes are also taken into account in the options being suggested to users.

RPA announce free Luas Park and Ride in Carrickmines for August & September

The Railway Procurement Agency (RPA) have announced that there has never been a better time to use the new Luas Park and Ride at Carrickmines because it will be free for August and September. RPA Chief Executive, Mr. Frank Allen says that this special offer "will give people an opportunity to sample what Luas Park and Ride has to offer, particularly for people from South Dublin, Wicklow and Wexford."

Located at Junction 15 of the M50, the Park and Ride is ideal for drivers approaching from the south along the M50 or N11. The RPA are keen to point out that with 350 car parking spaces there is plenty of capacity and the hassle of city traffic and parking fees can be avoided.

Carrickmines Park and Ride is very easy to access – drivers are advised to take the Junction 15 exit (Cornelscourt/Kiltarnan/Leopardstown/Ballyogan), on the M50 and cross over the motorway. N11 traffic should turn left at Cornelscourt and follow the signs.

- demolition and clearance of all other derelict structures on the site,
- provision of a public walkway/cycleway through the site connecting the coastal walkway at Newtownsmith to the East Pier,
- provision of defences against coastal erosion on the landward side of the existing swimming pools,
- decking over the railway line between the Peoples Park and the Baths site (currently subject to a Part 8 planning process),
- refurbishment of the area between the Baths site and the East Pier including the old Bandstand and

- construction of a new jetty and an area for changing to provide enhanced access to the water for swimmers at all stages of the tide.

The Council is currently seeking to clarify the appropriate planning mechanism for the proposed development and to resolve issues related to the ownership of the site.

Important improvements to Watermains and Road Surface underway on Dundrum Main Street

Works are continuing to lay a new watermain along Dundrum Main Street starting at the junction with the Ballinteer Road. This work is taking place between 8 a.m – 6 p.m from Monday 16 July and will continue for approximately 6 weeks. A traffic Management Plan is in place.

Some disruption is inevitable, however we appeal to motorists and pedestrians to bear with us for the duration of these important infrastructural works. The benefits of the works include a reduction in leakages from pipes, improved water pressure to homes and businesses, replacement of old lead connections on public supplies (where they exist) and improved level of service and security of supply.

Following the completion of these works, the Council's Road Maintenance Section is proposing to take the opportunity to re-surface the roadway on Main Street, Dundrum under the 2012 Roads Restoration Programme. When the tender process has been completed, we will update you with the start date of the proposed restoration works.

Rebekah drives Social Inclusion agenda at local level

Rebekah Fozzard has been working in Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown for nearly four years as the Council's Social Inclusion Officer, having previously worked in the retail and banking sectors. After completing a Business Degree in 2001 and a HDip in Social Policy UCD, followed by a Masters in Applied Social Research TCD, Rebekah moved from the Education and Community Sector into Local Government.

Much of Rebekah's work is focused on mainstreaming social inclusion principles within the local authority and other County Development Board organisations. This is done through the coordination of projects such as The Future is Ours: the County's Integration and Diversity Strategy (2012-2015), in which 26 organisations have committed to working together to promote integration in the County. Rebekah is also involved in a number of other initiatives aimed at improving services for minority groups across the County.

Having co-ordinated the dlr Fusion Programme, Rebekah is currently working on Social Inclusion Week, together with a number of local agencies and organisations. Taking place from the 13th – 20th October, this will be the fourth County-wide Social Inclusion Week, which she describes as "an opportunity for local organisations and community groups to highlight the work the community is doing to eliminate disadvantage and improve the quality of life for all residents in the County".

Newsflash!

Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown County Council has been shortlisted in 11 out of 16 project and Local Government. The winners of each category will be announced at an Awards Ceremony in November.

Local Policing forum makes an impact in Loughlinstown & Ballybrack

The Joint Policing Committee (JPC) is pleased to announce that the work of the Local Policing Forum in Loughlinstown and Ballybrack has contributed significantly to a reduction in the levels of anti-social behaviour and crime in the area. Such is the success of the initiative, the JPC plans to support the development of a similar forum in the Western part of the county.

Chair of the JPC Cllr. Dr Richard Humphreys says that over the last year, "there is evidence of a reduction in anti-social and criminal behaviour due to a co-ordinated targeted interagency approach". Examples of the initiatives that have made the greatest impact, include closing of laneways in Rathsallagh, Shanganagh and Clifton, and closure of the arches in Loughlinstown.

The JPC, which was set up in 2009 by the Department of Justice Equality and Law Reform to consider suitable responses to the health and safety and crime related concerns identified by the community, has also announced the adoption of its 12 month work plan. The ambitious plan includes the holding of public meetings, a community survey, identifying opportunities for inter-agency data sharing and, importantly, better engagement with young people in relation to crime and safety.

Residents help needed in supporting the Killiney Hill Red Squirrel Project

In partnership with the National Parks and Wildlife Service, the Council has recently launched the Killiney Hill Red Squirrel Project to help boost the local red squirrel population. Plans have now been made to release more red squirrels into the wild on Killiney Hill this August.

The red squirrel population in Killiney has declined in recent years as a result of the spread of the north American grey squirrel and the species is now near to extinction. The same pattern has been observed over much of Dublin.

The Council is seeking the support and assistance from local residents in conserving our native red squirrel. There are a number of ways in which you can help:

1. Report squirrel sightings (both red and grey) spotted in your garden or local green spaces
2. Consider planting trees which are beneficial to red squirrels in your garden and local green spaces
3. Assist with the management of the grey squirrel population which is threatening our native red squirrel
4. Join the Killiney Hill Red Squirrel Group

Chris Binchy films local community in DLR Reads Ulysses

June has proved a very busy month for DLR Writer in Residence Chris Binchy. On a bright and breezy Bloomsday morning, Chris started filming the first of his DLR Reads Ulysses extracts. Featuring many local people, writers and a number of Rough Magic actors who appeared in the Pavilion's hit play Travesties, he has completed the first seven chapters of Joyce's masterpiece. And he is not finished yet! Follow the progress of this innovative project with a search on YouTube under DLR Reads Ulysses and enjoy hearing Ulysses animated with a uniquely local flavour.

Following hot on the heels of this event, on midsummer's day Chris brought four major poets to a special Gallery Goes to DLR event in County Hall. Frank McGuinness, Eiléan Ní Chuilleanáin and Conor O'Callaghan, all published by The Gallery Press gave poetry readings and were interviewed by Gerald Dawe. This was an electrifying evening of superb poetry. If you missed out tune in to our podcast at www.dlrco.ie/library/librarypodcasts.htm. Chris Binchy continues Summer Reading Challenge for 5-13 year olds.

For the first time ever, DLR Libraries will be hosting a summer reading challenge from mid July until mid September. It's a great opportunity to encourage children aged 5-13, of all reading abilities, to enjoy reading over the summer holidays. There is a different theme every year and this year's one entitled Story Lab is a celebration of story and the imagination with - appropriately enough - an Olympics theme! The Olympics take place from 25th July-12th August and Paralympics from 29th August-9th September.

Just head to your local library from 11th July onwards and staff will enrol your children - it's completely free of charge. Complete the challenge, read 6 books over the summer and you may receive a bronze, silver or gold medal! Further information in your local library from 11th July.

Library Openings and Closings

Dalkey Library will reopen at the end of July 2012 following a refurbishment which includes access to an outdoor garden area. We look forward to welcoming all our borrowers back again!

Deansgrange Library will close from 16th July for approximately 12 months for a major refurbishment of this popular facility. During this period, Cabinteely Library will open every weekend rather than alternative weekends.

Heritage Officers launch New Book on Dublin's Martello Towers

A new book featuring the 28 Martello Towers of Dublin has recently been published by the Heritage Offices of Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown and Fingal County Councils, with the support of the Heritage Council.

The Martello towers of Dublin are unique landmarks along the Dublin coastline. There were 28 Martello tower sites built in 1804-1805 between Bray and Balbriggan to repel a threatened French invasion. These towers have become part of the everyday experience of many people who live in the capital but most people know very little about their history.

The Martello Towers of Dublin is available in all good book shops

Launch of "Reignite the Spark", Arts and Health Document

"Reignite the Spark" is a snapshot of the Arts and Health Partnership between dlr Arts Office and the HSE, which has been working quietly but to great effect for the past four years in residential and day care settings across the County. The partnership programme, which includes intergenerational drama, dance in the community and storytelling, ensures that traditionally hard to reach members of our community, such as those with disabilities, mental health illnesses, or long term conditions such as dementia, have opportunities to engage in the cultural life of the County.
