Who am I?

I am the sunrise behind blossom trees,
I am a soft breeze ruining people's hair,
I am the sun making light for the world,
I am a bus stop with people waiting.

I am a supermarket. I'm full of stalls but not so many dolls.
I am a path that is black and filled with stones,
I am a park full of happy and excited children,
I am a bird singing on a branch,
I am a wave hello that can fly.

I am an electric tower sending out waves of power,
I am a cat that goes meow!
I am a cat with red eyes and green fur,
I am a bird flying in the sky,
I am a tree with green leaves.

I am a man that walks on the road,
I am the sun that likes to shine
But when no-one sees me, I fly.

I am a house which is one of many,
To get in you need a key. Push the door and walk on the floor.
I am a house with flowers outside and a tree house.
I am Shanganagh Beach. People walk on me.
I am a big wave waiting to collapse.

I am a street light shining in the dark,
I am a tree with no leaves,
I am the moon coming up to say hello,
I am the big house with the bright red door.

I am a house.
I am a kitten.
I am a cat.
I am a flower.
I am beautiful.
I am my friend.

I am Shanganagh.
